Course Description

In ACWR 203, you'll learn the basics of writing a research paper. You'll formulate a workable (in terms of argument length and availability of secondary research) research question based on a suggested topic, research and effectively cite secondary sources, develop an argument, and revise and edit your work using feedback from me and from a writing tutor at the SSC.

Additional Information

Tuesdays: Grammar and discussion of readings Wednesdays: Theory and writing in the lab

Objectives of the Course

By the end of this course, students will have learned how to:

- read and think critically
- develop research questions
- do secondary research
- write well-constructed essays
- properly cite secondary sources

Textbooks and Readings

Lipschutz, G., Scarry, S., Scarry, J. (2016). The Canadian Writer's Workplace, Eighth Canadian Edition. Toronto: Nelson.

Please be courteous. Cell phones must be put away at the start of class.

Please respect your classmates' right to hear the class discussion.

Laptop computers may be used for course work.

Recording any part of any lecture in any form without permission is not permitted. Lecture slides will not be posted on the web. Photographing lecture slides is not permitted. These restrictions are due to copyright and intellectual property issues and are strictly enforced.

Assignments and Evaluation

Just as learning to play a sport well requires practice, commitment, and coaching, so too does learning to write well. In this class, you should:

- attend all classes
- keep an editing checklist to learn from your errors and improve your editing skills
- engage in as much reading and writing outside of class as you can

Although students will be required to do further work outside of classroom time, all in-class assignments will be worked on during class and submitted to the instructor at the end of the class. Except for the research essay, everything is to be completed during class.

Only students with documented excuses (i.e. doctors' notes, family emergencies, etc.) will be permitted to write missed exams.

In-class tutorial grammar assignments: 15% (10 x 1.5%)

January 16 to March 27

These assignments will help you practice your grammar. Every Tuesday, you will complete and hand in a grammar assignment at the end of class. These assignments are pass/fail (i.e., you'll either get the full 1% or 0), and cannot be made up at a later date.

In-class lab assignments: 15% (6 x 2.5%)

January 24, February 7, 28, March 7, 21, April 4

These assignments will help you apply the course material: developing research questions, conducting information searches, writing paragraphs, and revising and editing material. They are done in the lab and must be handed in at the end of the lab session. These assignments are pass/fail (i.e., you'll either get the full 2.5% or 0), and cannot be made up at a later date.

Midterm Exam, Feb. 28: 30%

Students will have the entire class to respond to readings and to write coherent paragraphs.

Research Essay (2,000 words/8 pgs.): 40%

Draft 1: Due March 7 (20%) Draft 2: Due April 4 (20%)

Students are expected to make at least one writing support appointment before submitting the first draft, and then at least one additional appointment after getting back their marked essay. The second 20% will be given based on improvements made in the second draft. These improvements should, at a minimum, address the issues I identify in the margins of your first draft. All sources must be properly cited using MLA format. A list of topics will be provided.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: No

You do not need to complete all assignments and exams in order to receive a passing grade in the course.

Submission of Assignments:

All in-class assignments are due at the end of class. Essays are to be handed in, in hard copy, at the beginning of class on the due date. Please do not send email attachments: assignments will not be accepted in this form. Please hand in your assignments directly to your instructor. If it is not possible to do so, you may drop off your assignment to a staff member at the front desk of the Student Success Centre on the 3rd floor of the TFDL.

Please remember to include your full name on all assignments. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see http://www.ucalgary.ca/legalservices/foip/foip-hia

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment and to ensure that the proper version is submitted.

Policy for Late Assignments

If you are worried that you might not be able to complete an essay on time, please contact me before the assignment is due so that we can attempt to resolve the problem.

Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

Student Accommodations:

Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services; SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. For additional information on support services and accommodations for students with disabilities, visit www.ucalgary.ca/access/.

Students who require an accommodation in relation to their coursework based on a protected ground other than disability should communicate this need in writing to their Instructor. The full policy on Student Accommodations is available at http://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/student-accommodation-policy.pdf.

- Students seeking accommodation for transient illnesses (e.g., the flu) should contact their instructors. Whenever possible, students should advise their instructors in advance if they will be missing quizzes, presentations, in-class assignments, or group meetings.
- When accommodations are granted, they may take forms other than make-up tests or assignments. For example, the weight of a missed grade may be added to another assignment or test.
- For information on Deferrals of Final Exams and Term Work, see sections G.6 and G.7 of the *University Calenda*r at http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/g-

6.html and http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/g-7.html

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Sources used in research papers must be properly documented. If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support

Grading & Grade Scale of the Department of Communication, Media and Film

Except for the in-class tutorial grammar assignments, work in this course will be graded using letter grades (or the percentage equivalents indicated below). Final grades are reported as letter grades. The following chart outlines the grade scale percentage equivalents used in the Department of Communication, Media and Film. In calculating final grades in this course, letter grades will be converted to corresponding GPA values.

Grade Point Value	Description	Grade	Dept of CMF grade scale equivalents	Letter grade % equivalent for calculations*
4.00	Outstanding	A+	96 - 100%	98.0%
4.00	Excellent—superior performance, showing comprehensive understanding of subject matter.	Α	90 - 95.99%	93.0%
3.70		A -	85 - 89.99%	87.5%
3.30		B+	80 - 84.99%	82.5%
3.00	Goodclearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete.	В	75 - 79.99%	77.5%

1.00		D	50 - 52.99%	51.5%
0.00	Fail – unsatisfactory performance or failure to meet course requirements.	F	0- 49.99%	0%

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

For information on citation and documentation styles (including APA, Chicago, IEEE, MLA, and others), visit the links provided at https://ucalgary.ca/ssc/resources/writing-support/436. If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor TFDL, http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support).

Academic Misconduct

For information on academic misconduct and its consequences, please see the University of Calgary Calendar at http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html

Research Ethics

Whenever you perform research with human participants (e.g., surveys, interviews, or observations) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve your research plans and supervise your research.
