Course Description

Music is often regarded as a language that can be universally understood – but its grammar and syntax are influenced by culture and spoken language, as well as technologies. This course will present ways to identify patterns, translate what you hear into deeper understanding, and expand the music you choose into a broad spectrum of conscious listening.

Additional Information

- Attendance in class is strongly recommended, as selected listening exercises and discussions will comprise a significant amount of course content. Collective learning is key: you will learn from each other as well as from focused instruction.
- Previous musical experience is not required, but it is welcomed.

Objectives of the Course

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Understand and recognize basic structural components of music (melody, rhythm, etc.)
- Understand and identify cultural functions of music
- Articulate what auditory elements attract their notice
- Demonstrate skills at recognition of musical cultures
- Demonstrate skills at writing about music and their responses to it.

Textbooks and Readings

Policy on the use of Electronic Communication Devices

Laptops, tablets, and mobile phones may be used in class and tutorials only for course-related purposes and only if their use is not distracting others or negatively impacting the learning environment. No audio or video recording is allowed in any class without the instructor's permission.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: No

Note: You must complete all assignments and exams or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

If you miss a required course component, please contact your instructor as soon as possible.

Instructions for Assignments

Listening reports: Attend a live music event on campus or off. Write a 2-page essay about your experience: What was presented, and by whom (e.g. group, soloists, purpose, what voices and/or instruments and/or electronics were involved, etc.) What did you notice? How did you feel? What did you especially like or dislike, and why? Did anything relate to the textbook or a lecture? Did anything surprise you?

Exams: Short answers, e.g. definition or identification of terms, and short essay questions that may involve analytical and/or speculative thinking, or reflection on personal experience.

Group projects: A group consists of 3-4 members. Each group will choose a topic to research and present to the class.

Sample topic areas, to generate topics:
- Music of a particular geographic region, nationality, or traditional ethnic group: how is regional or traditional identity presented in music?
- Music as a political or social force: how does it motivate crowds?
- Music expressing celebration or grief: how is emotion evoked and mediated?
- Music and the brain or nervous system: what is involved in music perception?
- Music and health or therapy: how does it affect health and healing?
Each topic must include mention of how the music communicates to listeners.

Project proposals will include the group's topic, plan for research and presentation, and preliminary sources: two sources per group member is the minimum requirement.
- Each source must be annotated – a brief description of relevant content and how the group will use it (usually one paragraph).
- There should also be a statement of agreement among the group members for who will be responsible for each section of the project.

Project documents, handed in at the completion of the presentation, will include: A detailed summary of the presentation that identifies who provided what portions of the work, a full list of references cited with a consistent system (APA or MLA), and a statement from each group member about what you learned from the process. All references must be compiled together at the end of the document: this includes visual and sound files. (No annotations are expected at this point.)

Participation: Six points of your score will come from two (2) comments on presentations by groups other than your own (a paragraph or two for each). Comments must be posted in the Discussion section of D2L. They will count for your Participation score, not for the group scores. The other 4 points will come from your participation in class discussions.

Submission of Assignments

Note: It is your responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment and to ensure that you submit the proper version (particularly in courses requiring electronic submission).

Please upload assignments to the D2L dropbox: Use Word files (not .pdf format).

Label files as follows:

Listening exercises: (Your surname) – Listening 1(or 2)

Group documents: COMS 401 – (Surname of one group member) Group
Also include a heading on the first page with the names of all group members in alphabetical order by surname. This prevents delays in recording scores.

Examples:

Label: COMS 401 - Chan Group

Heading: Lily Chan, Jon Jones, Marie Leclair

Be prepared to provide photo ID to pick up written assignments in SS 320. Private information related to individual students is treated with the utmost regard by University of Calgary faculty. Student assignments will be accessible only by the authorized course faculty, and personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. Please note that instructors may use audio or video recorded for lesson capture, assessment of student learning, and self-assessment of teaching practices.

Policy for Late Assignments
Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a partial letter grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each week late.
Student Accommodations
Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS); SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. For information on support services and accommodations for students with disabilities, visit www.ucalgary.ca/access/. Students who require an accommodation based on a protected ground other than disability should communicate this need in writing to their Instructor. The full policy on Student Accommodations is available at http://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy.pdf.

Students seeking accommodation for transient illnesses (e.g., the flu) or another legitimate reason should contact their instructors. Whenever possible, students should provide supporting documentation to support their request; however, instructors may not require that a medical note be presented. For the policy on supporting documentation the use of a statutory declaration, see Section M.1 of the University Calendar. Also see FAQs for Students: https://www.ucalgary.ca/registrar/registration/appeals/student-faq.

Expectations for Writing
Department policy directs that all written assignments and, to a lesser extent, written exam responses be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization and proper documentation of research sources. For further information, please refer to the University of Calgary Calendar section on writing across the curriculum: http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/e-2.html.

Grading & Department of Communication, Media and Film Grade Scale
The following table outlines the grade scale percentage equivalents used in the Department of Communication, Media and Film. Final grades are reported as letter grades. For components graded using percentages or numerical scores, those values will be used directly in calculating the final course grade, while for components graded using letter grades, the letter grades will be converted to the midpoint values listed in the final column of the table below in calculating the final course grade.

In this course, numerical scores (out of the total points allotted to each assignment or exam) will be assigned to each item. They will be totalled at the end of term, with scores falling a point below the next grade, and fractional scores, rounding upward.

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. In-text citations must be provided, and readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotation marks (or, for long quotations, presented in the format prescribed by the documentation style you are using). Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there.

For information on citation and documentation styles (MLA, APA, Chicago, IEEE, etc.), visit the Student Success Centre resource links at https://ucalgary.ca/student-services/student-success/writing-support or the Purdue Online Writing Lab (OWL) Research and Citation Resources at https://owl.purdue.edu/owl/research_and_citation/resources.html

If you need help with your writing or have questions about citing sources, please consult your instructor or visit the Student Success Centre, 3rd floor, Taylor Family Digital Library.
