Course Description

An examination of the movie musical, with an emphasis on Hollywood films from the studio and post-war eras.

Objectives of the Course

Students will attain knowledge of the history, themes, and aesthetics of the movie musical, as well as key approaches in cinema genre study, including those that consider the relationship between movies and their wider social and historical contexts.

In order to achieve these objectives, it is imperative that students come to class prepared, having completed the assigned readings or other preparatory tasks and willing to discuss pertinent issues with both the instructor and their peers in a thoughtful and respectful manner.

Internet and electronic communication device information

Mobile phones must be turned off during class. Students may use laptops or tablets during lectures and discussions for note-taking purposes only.

Textbooks and Readings

Rick Altman, The American Film Musical (Bloomington and Indianapolis: Indiana University Press, 1987).
Steve Cohen, ed., Hollywood Musicals: The Film Reader (New York: Routledge, 2002).

Additional readings will be available on Blackboard [BB].

Students who are new to the academic study of cinema are strongly encouraged to visit the Yale Film Studies Film Analysis website (<http://classes.yale.edu/film-analysis/>) in order to familiarize themselves with basic film terms and concepts.

It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment.

Note: Please hand in your essay directly to your instructor if possible. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in SS320; a date stamp is provided for your use. A night drop box is also available for after-hours submission. Assignments will be removed the following morning, stamped with the previous day's date, and placed in the instructor's mailbox.

Writing Skills Statement

Department policy directs that all written assignments (including, although to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. For details see <http://www.comcul.ucalgary.ca/needtoknow>. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc) but also general clarity and organization. Research papers must be properly documented.

If you need help with your writing, you may use the Writing Centre. Visit the website for more details: www.efwr.ucalgary.ca

Grading System

The following grading system is used in the Department of Communication and Culture:

	Grading Scale
A+	96-100
A	90-95.99
A -	85-89.99
B+	80-84.99
B	75-79.99
B-	70-74.99
C+	65-69.99
C	60-64.99
C-	55-59.99
D+	53-54.99

D	50-52.99
F	0-49

(Revised, effective September 2008)

Where a grade on a particular assignment is expressed as a letter grade, it will normally be converted to a number using the midpoint of the scale. That is, A- would be converted to 87.5 for calculation purposes. F will be converted to zero.

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. This includes assignments submitted in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media, and material taken from such sources.

Please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (MacEwan Student Centre 4th floor, efwr.ucalgary.ca) if you have any questions regarding how to document sources.
